

Show Me Love's Alexandra Becomes A "Real" Actor

Alexandra Dahlström becomes a drama actor on Wednesday. Then she thinks about moving to Russia. Right now she awaits the second premiere of Kranes Konditori, written by Cora Sandel. She plays Borghild, daughter of Katinka, played by Solveig Ternström.

- Borghild is currently damn scared because her mother decided to ignore her. It's very scary. She just loves her mother and tries to understand her, says Alexandra.

Do you recognize any of her in yourself?

- Yes, when I fight with my mom I think that some situations have been like the play.

How excited are you for the premiere?

- I will be so nervous so I don't want to think about it now (laughs).

Is it nice to work with Solveig Ternström and the others?

- Absolutely. It's the world's best ensemble. They're all nice.

Is it true that you want to form a theatre group that is a bit of a hippie commune?

- Yes, it would be fun to be able to do what you want. But then you can't eat anything because you're poor.

When Show Me Love premiered in Russia, Russian journalists asked if she thought "it was going to become a trend to be bisexual."

- It's more taboo with homosexuality there. I replied that it was not a disease that you are infected with.
- But I like the Russians, even if it's terrible there now.

You are fluent in Russian?

- Yes, my mother is Russian and my grandmother lives there. I was in Russia when I was little. When I grow up, I want to live there because I love it so much that I become crazy.

When do you blush?

- I don't think it's good to be ashamed so it's better not to blush.

When do you get angry?

- When I watch TV. I think it's the worst chore, a nice thing to do, but I get angry because it's so damn cliché and people say such stupid things.

What's the worst gossip you've heard about yourself?

- That Mathias Rust and I are together. But it's not terrible because he's a great guy.
