

Fucking Åmål's Alexandra Directs Bear Quartet Video

Just saw Bear Quartet's new video for Lovers Goodbye directed by Alexandra Dahlström. It is available HERE. Maybe it's over the top for me to write "Fucking Åmål's Alexandra" in the title, but what the hell, not everyone may make the connection. Fine song and well-made video that has some similarities to Dahlström's short film Because the Night.

We experience a party cruise to Tallinn in some young women's perspective. Dahlström captures a dreamy and romantic feel that goes well with the song. "When I heard Lovers Goodbye, I wanted to see what happened if I mixed a stone drunk bachelorette with a trace of majestic, melancholy punk song. For me, the song is about losing faith in love and to fight against the whole world. A hen's¹ usually pretty enthusiastic about something as abstract and unclear as everlasting love, therefore, the contrast between the song and the images is very hard," said Alexandra Dahlström to PSL.

A year ago, I met Alexandra Dahlström at the Stockholm Film Festival, where her short film premiered.

2010-12-15

Joni Nykänen

Source:

<http://www.kuriren.nu/bloggar/bloggentry.aspx?blogg=4617200&entry=5701906>

Translated by: <http://alexandra-dahlstrom.net>

1. Hen is another term for bachelorette mainly used in the UK, Ireland, Australia and New Zealand.